

I'm Daunna M. Sellers a retired school teacher and now horse breeder and trainer. I became interested in the Shagya breed from an article in "Arabian Visions".

My daughter had literally out grown my wonderful 13h to 14h 2 in Arabians. She needed a bigger horse. I also at that time bred my Jayel Tonga Farah (ox) to Darlene Steven's Ghazon. The resulting colt was phenomenal and now resides in West Chester, Ohio.

I then purchased Bayram with Elisha, my daughter as co-owner.

Bayram created a wonderful adventure for both of us. I bred him to my itty bitty, old line bred Arabian mares and the results were phenomenal-size in the first generation, athletic ability and great confirmation. These first born from the Arab mares are now being tested as endurance horses. There is no question that Bayram plus these mares produced winning endurance horses. Not LD horses, but winning endurance horses.

My goal now is to take his beautiful daughters and choose a stallion that will compliment them, to produce even more powerful winning endurance horses.

Sometimes good luck happens, I stumbled on Bayram and he produced the big heart that the TB racers talk about. Or my old line mares did, who really knows, as three have already crossed over the rainbow bridge. I have their daughters and am looking forward to what they can produce. Darlene has a Bayram daughter who had a colt by Dante that should really be able to run. And this I hope is what they will give me.

I have always volunteered in organizations that I have joined, and I tried to help when I first got Bayram in the 90's. I was politely turned down. So when ASAV came into being my help was welcomed and I rolled up my sleeves.
